FLINT ARMCHAIR

Designed by Jehs & Laub, the body of the Flint armchair unfolds like a calyx and is made from one single piece. This was achieved by imagining the armchair as a sculpture and simply cutting out all that is super-fluous. The design of the Flint features a circular base  optionally on gliders or a rotating plate  that rises up to the rounded square seat surface and then flows to the high backrest, while the boundary between the hard shell and the soft core is marked by a circumferential seam, to create an incredibly comfortable chair. Flint is available in a selection of leathers and fabrics to suit any design style and space. Seat height is 34cm.
