PALÙ BENCH

The new Palù collection by Raffaella Mangiarotti portrays a concept of small-scale architecture, formed by the relationship between presence and absence. The distinctive features of the Palù collection, a bedside table and bench seat, are the linear effect of solids and empty spaces, and profound harmonies. The curves created using a sequence of wooden rods define the space and the frame embraces suspended volumes, made from air. The steam-bent wooden frame is available in solid Walnut or Borgogna or Natural Oak finish and the seat of the Palù bench can be upholstered in any of Pianca's leather or fabric options, taut and smooth without any visible stitches. The bench seat also has the option to add a Vienna straw shelf.
